Objectives

As a soon to be graduate (2023) in the English and Professional Writing program (BA) at York University, with a passion for reviewing and writing I would like to find a job in this space. This could be from podcasting, to writing reviews, working on social media posts, YouTube videos and many more. I would like to work in a team to gain more experience in this field and to expand my knowledge in this area.

Qualifications

While I have not had a job in this field coming out of University, I do have experience on working on these types of projects through school and my personal life. I have a great passion for writing, reading and viewing stories. I have written reviews in an amateur sense, for example on the review site of anime, manga, and more, myanimelist, I have written reviews on series. I am willing to work to gain more experience in this role before working in a more prominent role. Through the jobs that I have had, I have worked with teams and have found myself to be very versatile and I am willing to do many roles and jobs that are asked of me.

Work History

Dishwasher – November 2018 to March 2020

Old Mill Restaurant

- While working here I was versatile, doing the many roles that the other employees were not willing or able to do.
- Worked in a team, from the dishwashing station, kitchen, and sanitation department.
- When the holiday season would come around, I was tasked with organizing and taking care of the rental dishes, plates, and bowls.
- I would work late into the night or early in the morning depending on when I was needed.
